Talking About Your Pain

It's important to remember that each person's pain is different. The pain that you experience cannot be compared to another person's pain. ONLY YOU know how and when you hurt, and how the pain affects your life.

It is important to describe what you are feeling to those who are trained to help you. Don't be embarrassed to talk to your doctor, nurse, or pharmacist. They need to know as much as possible about your pain in order to develop the best plan to control it. The questions on this form can help you describe your pain.

Why Is Pain Relief So Important?

Proper treatment for pain is not only a matter of comfort. Unrelieved pain can lead to nausea, loss of sleep, depression, loss of appetite, weakness, and other problems. Pain can also affect your life at home and at work. Relieving your pain means that you can continue to do the day-to-day things that are important to you.

Most Pain Can Be Helped

Your doctor will work with you to find the treatment that may be best for your pain. The key to effective pain control is to have the RIGHT AMOUNT, of the RIGHT TREATMENT, at the RIGHT TIME. You should have your pain treatment on a regular schedule, as your doctor, nurse, or pharmacist tells you. Try not to wait until the pain becomes severe. Pain is easier managed before it has reached full force.

If your pain treatment wears off too soon, is not relieving the pain, or causes problems with side effects, you should call your doctor because you may need to have your treatment plan changed.

Comments: Write down any questions or information you need to share with your doctor, nurse, or pharmacist about your pain.

Patient Medical Questionnaire:

Please answer each question carefully and return the completed sheet to the receptionist. This is not a substitute for a history and examination by your attending doctors.

Please mark the appropriate box with an "X" to answer each question
